Accountability in the Practice of Mental Health

Donald E. Wiger, Ph.D., LP

Registration:

8:30 – 9:00 a.m.

Program:

9:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

This session is at the intermediate level and is designed for psychologists and other mental health professionals.

Location:

Metropolitan State University – Midway Campus, Lower Level,
Room P, 1450 Energy Park Dr., St. Paul, MN 55108

About the Program:

This program qualifies for 3.0 continuing education credits.

The goal of this program is to teach participants how to clearly and efficiently document the intake, treatment plans, progress notes and therapy outcomes in a manner that would satisfy the most discriminating auditor. Topics include: measuring and quantifying behavior, diagnostic interviewing, and writing treatment plans and progress notes. The presentation is based on Dr. Wiger's book, The Clinical Documentation Primer, which is used in many graduate schools. This training will also help participants save much time that is often taken after the session or at the end of the day. Most therapists do not write progress notes during the session. Their reason is often that it takes away from focusing on the client. This training will emphasize ways to write this material during sessions in a manner so that it does not take away from the session rapport and disclosure, but actually enhances these effects.

Participants will be able to:

1. Apply specific interview techniques to maximize client information and provide adequate baseline data for outcome measurement.
2. Write measurable and objective treatment plans which clearly meet client problem areas and incorporate client strengths.

3. Write progress notes which preserve confidentiality, validate medical necessity and clearly follow the treatment plan.
4. Explain how to integrate the above procedures into demonstrating the outcomes of therapy.

About the Presenter:

Donald E. Wiger, Ph.D., LP, is a licensed psychologist with private practices in St. Paul and Anoka, Minnesota, in which he specializes in psychological evaluations in areas of neuropsychometric evaluations, ADHD, learning disabilities, developmental delays, vocational, mental health, and disability. Dr. Wiger earned his M.S. and Ph.D. in Psychology from New York's Fordham University, specializing in psychometrics. He also has an M.S. (Ed) degree in counselor education from the State University of New York. Dr. Wiger received his B.A. in psychology from Roberts Wesleyan College. He taught doctoral level students for 18 years, and has been a practicum supervisor for about 15 years. He has conducted over 50 nationwide seminars in documenting psychological services since the 1990s. Dr. Wiger has written several books on topics such as clinical documentation, practice management, clinical interviewing, psychological practice forms, and record-keeping.

Please note: You must attend the full 3-hour program to get continuing education credit for the event.
